A Road into the Beach

THE municipal elections at the Beach this summer promise to be quiet and without any flare-up to mar the summer season. The question of a road from Victoria Beach to Albert Beach has been a bone of contention for many years, and finally the council a few years ago spent two thousand dollars towards the construction of such an enterprise and was helped out by valuable assistance from the provincial government. This road was used for a couple of years, and the high water came and washed it all away. Last year there was quite an agitation on for a permanent road to replace the one lost. It was to have been, if the promoters got their way, of substantial form; but after calculating the cost, placed by some at thirty thousand dollars, and others fifty thousand dollars, it was realized that the provincial government would not sanction such an expenditure. However, a certain number of residents, to bring the matter to a head, nominated a candidate for the council who gave expression to the wishes of the all year residents. There was a fear that this might lead to an open road, which is contrary to the wishes of the majority of people living here, and the voters said so emphatically when they recorded their votes. Yet it was realized that something had to be done towards the goal of a permanent road, as for some weeks last year it was impossible for trucks and cars to leave the Beach for the outside world. It cost ten dollars to tow a car by tractor along the dilapidated road. So in the past few months, aided by the department of highways in the Manitoba Government, work has been going on to rebuild the old highway along Traverse Bay, and if no high-water comes along the shores of the Lake and the Bay this new entrance should last for at least five years, as it has been built under the direction of government engineers who took advantage of failures made when the former road was put through. This new project which is satisfactory to the permanent residents does not in any way interfere with the highway traffic by-law on the statutes of this municipality and which is being rigidly enforced by the Mounted Police stationed here, as it has been in seasons past. While some people view with fear and trembling the very mention of a road into the Beach, the whole subject was heatedly discussed at meetings of the Council in recent months. Two of the council members did not like the way the promotion of the road was handled but the representative of the permanent residents is satisfied that the outcome will promote harmony and goodwill among all those living here, both in the summer time and all year round. However, one member of the council states he has no desire to serve any longer, but an effort is being made to change his mind so that a united front may be made against certain evils which are cropping up from time to time in this locality.

Beach Train Rumpus Fines Go Up

There has been too much rowdyism on Winnipeg Beach trains. A short time ago Magistrate D. G. Potter in provincial police court imposed a fine for misbehavior and issued a warning and ultimatum.

He set a fine of $20 and said the next person charged would have to pay $10 more. Wednesday Magistrate Potter carried out his threat.

He fined George Kuntz, 452 St. John's Ave., $30 and costs for causing a nuisance after Kuntz had pleaded guilty to turning out lights.

Then Magistrate Potter fired another warning shot: The next guilty person would pay a still higher fine, he said.

Democracy in United College

One of the greatest experiments in practical democracy is to be found in United College, Prof. David Owens, of the college philosophy department said recently.

Prof. Owens was guest speaker at a morning service on a recent Sunday in Winnipeg which marked the start of the church's effort to raise its allocation toward a new building for theological college. Prof. Owens gave an analysis of college's student body by racial origin, religious denomination and occupational background.

Prof. Owens' figures showed that among 1,000 students there are 147 veterans; 600 city-bred students and 400 from rural districts. They have 34 different racial backgrounds, 24 different religious backgrounds, 47 different occupational backgrounds and are from 12 different regions:

"Here are 1,000 young people in a community, living principles of universal brotherhood," Prof. Owens said.

This was emphasized by a 90 percent voter turn-out in recent college elections, he said.

"This has been called the century of the common man and is commonly felt to be the one in which he will get and get as never before," said Prof. Owens.

Preferring to interpret this as meaning that common man has reached new responsibilities, he added: "He must give and give as never before of his time, energy and substance to building of his community."

Sunday's Church Service

Rev. W. G. Berry, who is spending a vacation at the Beach, will be the preacher at the morning service at 10:45 o'clock in the Clubhouse this coming Sunday. Mr. Berry always brings a message of interest to his congregation and his many friends will be glad to welcome him again this season.

The thanks of the Club are given to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd and Miss Dorothy for their kindness in giving swimming lessons.

Confidentially!

"Confidentially," there's a great deal of work being done at the moment in connection with the Victoria Beach Community Club's annual Regatta and Sports Day scheduled for July 31st. Chairman Dave Grant tells us its to be bigger and better than ever. We suggest you watch for bulletins, giving details of this great event; and also watch for notices appearing elsewhere in this paper.

Things are really "rushing" around the Club these days. The membership drive is progressing very favorably, but we've heard that there are still a great many Summer Vacationists who have not as yet joined us. We'd like to stress here that you don't have to be a property or cottage owner to be eligible to join the Club. Anyone may become a member. Rates are available for one week, two weeks, one month, or the season. Enquire today at the Clubhouse.

Sunday seems to be a very busy day — for the Club, that is. Take last Sunday, for example. In the afternoon, there was a roaring baseball game between the Victoria Beach Native Sons, and the Winnipeg Woodchoppers (and are we stiff!). For those who enjoy good music there was a symphony concert on the Beach in front of the Clubhouse. This is a new Club venture, and one that is gathering a greater and more enthusiastic listening audience each week. In the evening, there's our Sunday Nite Show, very capably arranged and produced by Entertainment Chairman, Mrs. Edith Henderson. This Sunday, the same schedule of events will take place. Come on out to one or all of them — We think you'll enjoy yourself.

Say, have you noticed that everywhere you look these days — tennis raequets! And no wonder! Al Irving and Joe Donovan have the Courts in exceptionally fine condition. Why don't you take advantage of them? They are open to one and all, but special rates prevail for Club members.

Coming up soon is the Children's Masquerade, the Children's Sports Day, the Regatta, and the Children's Dog Show. Look for further announcements concerning these events.

House Wrens Nest in Work Pants

Mrs. Frank Olson of Victoria Beach hung a pair of her husband's work pants on the clothesline pending the arrival of wash day. A day or so later she noticed a House Wren carrying twigs into the pants but they fell through a leg on to the ground.

This did not deter the industrious Wren whose on-track mind evidently saw no connection between the mounting pile of twigs beneath the pant leg and no nest within. However, Mrs. Olson pegged the end of the pant leg and from then on everything was hunkey-dory, and Mr. Olson was out a pair of pants for the duration.

Another occurrence was at the Elston cottage where a Wrens nest was started in a pair of swimming shorts hanging on the line.

CHILDREN'S MASQUERADE — SATURDAY, JULY 23

Although there were many fires in the bush country thirty to forty miles north of Victoria Beach in the past few weeks, Mr. Cooke, the municipal engineer, states that there has not been a sign of a fire in any part of the Beach area this summer and speaks well for the warnings given by the municipality to visitors to be careful not to throw cigarette stubs on the side of the road, which is a common danger at all times.

Church Edifice for Victoria Beach

Considerable progress has been made in recent months towards the plan to erect a Church at this Beach for the accommodation of permanent residents here. A site has been tentatively agreed upon and it is at the corner of Pine Road and 8th Avenue, and if the finances improve that is where the building will be erected. More of this will be known after a meeting to be held on July 28th at 8:30 p.m., in the Legion Hall, which will be presided over by Archdeacon Holmes of Winnipeg. The Church will have the whole-hearted support of the senate of Rupert's Land. The Anglican Church has always taken a deep interest in a religious service at the Beach, sending down from week to week throughout the winter a clergyman or missionary who arrives at rather an awkward part of the week owing to the infrequent train service, but he is always welcomed by a large gathering when he arrives despite the weather. A place to sleep and his meals, are always provided, indicating the warmth of the feelings of the people towards the service. When the Archdeacon comes down he will officially state the stand to be taken by the Church towards the enterprise, and an idea of the cost of the structure will be debated. There is already on hand with the Church Treasurer here one thousand dollars and the Victoria Beach Club some years ago set aside one hundred dollars to be given to any church building that might be here. Other donations are being held back until a practical start has been made but these will be forthcoming at the proper time. The Herald is sure that summer residents will also generously support this new church plan.

A Train "Mystery"

There is still a mystery as to why the 1:10 through train from Winnipeg was cancelled on July 2nd without notice, and passengers for Victoria Beach had to take the 1:45 train and stop at Grand Beach with its tedious wait before reaching the Beach. Two nights before, the 7 o'clock train in to Winnipeg was cancelled and a number of women with little children, one with a baby, who came down to the station at twenty minutes to seven o'clock, were compelled to wait the departure of the 9:20 Moonlight train. Perhaps the July 1st holiday business was too much for the railways present facilities to make up the necessary trains.

An Airplane Visits The Beach

Late last winter an epidemic of measles, of the same type as has prevailed throughout Manitoba and especially in Winnipeg for several months, afflicted a number of members of Victoria Beach families and in one case an entire family was stricken. The attack became so prevalent and wide-spread that an investigation was necessary by the health department of the Manitoba government, and so one morning residents were surprised to see an airplane landing on the snow and ice of the lagoon, and out of it popped a Doctor and a Nurse sent down to see how serious the measles were. The Doctor made a thorough investigation of all the cases here and in the afternoon returned to Winnipeg, leaving the Nurse who remained a week, until she decided all the cases which came under her notice were gradually improving. The visit did great good and in due time all those afflicted were on their feet again without any permanent disability.

Outside of the affliction which befell Mrs. Hugh Stewart, well known in her younger days as Violet Paulson, a resident of the Beach from childhood, the health of the community here has been good for many months, and the health plan of the provincial government seems to be satisfactory to residents. There was plenty of snow at the Beach last winter and this to some extent hindered the movement of families visiting from one home to another. The train service was adequate except for one week, but the snow plow finally cleared the way for the trains to come in regularly.

Lawrence Rupert, brother of Frank Rupert, whose ankles and feet were badly injured when he was run over by a truck last summer, is again able to use them, but his feet are not as good as they were before the accident. It was thought at one time amputation would be necessary, but the skill and patience of his doctor saved him from such a calamity. Frank Rupert has given up his work on a milk farm in Charleswood, which he conducted for the past ten years, and is now residing at the Beach.

After watching the squabbles that often develop in the splitting of estates we can sympathize with the old fellow whose will contained just the following: "Being of sound mind I spent every darned cent I had."

July Weather Pleasant and Bright

Bathing is very pleasant at this summer resort at the present time. For the first three weeks of June the water was quite cool, and only those who had courage dared to dip in. But the warm sun of July has made a favorable change and hundreds each day go in for a refreshing plunge. The absence of mosquitoes this summer adds to the enjoyment of cottage life, for as a rule these pests are quite numerous in the early summer. Their disappearance can be placed to the cool weather in June and the lack of rain, which destroyed the young just at the time when they were coming to life.

Eat More Ice Cream and Help Dairies

A bigger scoop of ice cream on your apple pie, and more tooty-fruity piled on that cone — that's what the national council would like to see.

The council's executive committee met in Ottawa recently and considered ways of getting Canadians to eat more ice cream.

One suggestion was that the government remove the sales tax on ice cream in order to reduce prices and stimulate the consumption of the product. For instance, it was considered reasonable that the tax removal would be passed along to the consumer, either in the form of larger scoops in cones, sundaes and with pie, or in reduction of the price of ice-cream bricks.

Reason for the interest in ice cream consumption is the fact that since margarine went on the market the call on butter fats had been cut down. By raising consumption of ice cream the dairy council figures butterfat surpluses could be used up.

the council executive offered the argument that since ice cream has been officially recognized as a nutritious food by the national health department, it should be on equal footing with most other foods which are not under the sales tax.

Members of the council, which represents dairy processors, manufacturers and distributors, also took a look at the over-all dairy picture and concluded that while conditions in many parts of Ontario and the west have tended to reduce the milk flow, the present stocks of dairy products in Canada appear to be sufficient to meet domestic needs.

It all reverts to the original plan for laying out a summer resort on this island. When the Canadian Northern Railway was finally induced to build a line to this point, it was distinctly stated by the then president of the company, who was head of the municipal council that the only way cottage owners could come to Victoria Beach was by the railway. That was a way back in the opening years of the first Great War and when there were only the Hamptons and the Paulsons living here, and three fishermen who had shacks on the shore of Traverse Bay. The promoters of Victoria Beach did not vision that some day more than one hundred and fifty permanent residents would be living here. Quite a number have made a fair revenue out of cottage campers during the summer time but the winter is a long one and there are difficulties to be met with. So nearly everyone of this class went in for mink farming on this island, but last fall it was not profitable to those engaged in such an enterprise. The problem of living here is not an easy one to solve. A permanent road will be debated for many years to come and those acting in an official capacity will always have it laid on their doorsteps to solve. But as long as the Mounted Police carry out the terms of the highway by-law we will have comfort and protection.

The garden of Mr. Fred D'Coursey Davies is now taking on its old time fine appearance, Mr. Davies having worked wonders in cultivation in spite of his handicap for this work.

Eating Wingless Chicken

Wingless chickens have been developed by Pcter H. Bauman of Des Moines after 12 years of selective breeding. Mr. Bauman, 32, has about 400 of the wingless chickens. The advantages?

Well, for one thing, Mr. Bauman said, his birds have white meat where others have only bony wings. It makes them better eating.

And besides, no high fence is needed to keep the chickens in the yard. The birds can't fly at all, and Mr. Bauman says they can only "high jump" 18 to 20 inches. A two-foot barrier is high enough.

Mr. Bauman says the chickens lay an average number of eggs, but he says in time he expects the breed will outlay other chickens as well as produce more meat. The reason is that the energy an ordinary chicken wastes in "useless flapping and flying about can be utilized in production of meat and eggs," Mr. Bauman said.

Lack of Wings also makes the drumsticks bigger. That Mr. Bauman said, is because the chicken's upper leg has to work harder to hold the bird upright.

Joe's wife caught up with her husband in a bar, sampled the highball he was drinking and demanded:

"How can you drink such horrible stuff?"

"See!" said the husband, "and all the time you've thought I was out having fun!"

Air Vice-Marshall C. R. Slemon, former Winnipegger and first Canadian pilot to win his wings in peacetime, has been named head of Central Air Command in Trenton, Ont., succeeding Air Vice-Marshall E. E. Middleton, C.B.E.

Air Vice-Marshall Slemon, 44, was commissioned to the R.C.A.F. in 1924 after serving four years at Victoria Beach in forestry patrol and began his military career in the army officers' training corps while an engineering student at the University of Manitoba.

Outstanding Pilot

One of the service's outstanding pilots in the early days, he was engaged in some of the first photo survey operations and forest fire patrols.

From 1935 to 1937 he was operations staff officer in Ottawa and in 1939 was appointed senior staff officer of Western Air Command, later commanding it. In 1941, he became director of operations at Ottawa and in 1942 went overseas to help organize the Canadian Bomber Group.

From January, 1943, to September, 1944, he was senior air staff officer. He later was deputy air officer commander in chief of the R.C.A.F. overseas.
